President Demands Action on Soldier Vote Bill

VOICES SHARP CRITICISM OF
SENATE BILL

Declares Measure Meaningless and a "Fraud" on Men in Service.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—President Roosevelt demanded of Congress today adequate federal legislation for fighting soldiers to vote next fall, and urged adoption of a state's-rights proposal as a "fraud upon the American people."

In passionately vehement language, the President said: "Our men in the armed forces do not care for anybody or pressure group except for them" and added: "I am sure that I can express the feelings in this matter and the sentiment against the discrimination in which is being practiced against them."

Mr. Roosevelt sent the Capitol a special message on the soldier's vote. In an admitedly departing from custom and precedent, he even took notice of house legislative procedure which might permit final action on the soldier's vote issue without a roll call vote, and flung a challenge to Congressmen "to stand up and be counted."

There are times, I think, when the President can speak as an "interested citizen." Mr. Roosevelt said, "I think there would be widespread resentment, on the part of the people of the nation, if they were unable to find out how their individual representatives have expressed themselves on the legislation—which goes to the root of the right to citizenship."

I do not believe the legislation imperious. . . . It certainly would appear unnecessary that our soldiers and sailors and merchant marine have to make a special effort to retain their right to vote."

The Chief Executive's proposal passed by the Senate Dec. 23, "meaningless." This measure will turn the servicemen's vote system over to the states.

Taft Voices Protest
The clerk, the senate clerk, was calling the President's name, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) stepped from his feet and declared: "I am, as one of those who voted for the bill, against the designation of that measure as a 'fraud.'

Then the President had delivered a direct insult to the senator, taunting the President's message as being "meaningless." This measure will turn the servicemen's vote system over to the states.

Taft continued: "Some members of Congress guffawed loudly during the reading of the President's speech in the house, and the clerk had finished.

The audience were particularly interested in the clerk read a paragraph from the President's speech to say anything to the effect on this matter, and could be asserted a right to be an interested citizen. They mingled with the Taft, after the reading, Leader Martin of the Senate, asked unanimous consideration of the Senate-passed states.

However, since Martin was recognized for that, the house proceeded to the reading of other business.

The President that had for immediate action the soldier's vote bill, in making his request to the Senate, declared: "The soldiers and sailors are now training and fighting for our sacred cause, and a fraud upon the people."

The President said that what

GERMANS SINK
HOSPITAL SHIP

Vessel, Plainly Marked, Goes Down Quickly After Dive Bombing Attack.

By The Associated Press

NETTUNO, Italy, Jan. 21.—(Delayed)—In a cold-blooded attack outside the invasion zone, German bombers sank a hospital ship today and made a direct hit and near misses on two others.

Swift rescue work was believed to have held losses of lives comparatively light.

The attack was delivered shortly after dark. Survivors said the three hospital ships were at least 10 miles from the zone where allied warships and landing craft were located. All three ships were painted white and large red crosses on their sides and all were lit.

Five American nurses attached to surgery teams were aboard, and all were saved and uninjured.

"The Germans lighted the skies for miles around with flares," one of the nurses said. "We heard anti-aircraft fire from other ships, but we never dreamed the bombers would attack us. We had steamed well out to sea by that time and no warships or any other ships were near us."

"It wasn't an accident because they dive-bombed us not once but several times," a survivor said. "It was a clear night and the ships were easily identifiable with their own lights and the glow from the flares."

The doomed hospital ship sank within six minutes.

250,000 NAZIS CUT OFF FROM
REST OF ARMYRussians Reach 2 Main Rail Lines Running South from Leningrad.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Jan. 26.—The great Russian northern offensive has reached the two main railroads running west and south of Leningrad, cutting off approximately 250,000 Nazi troops from direct communications with the rest of the German army.

A Soviet war communiqué announced last night the Leningrad army had fought its way into the strategic rail hub of Krasnogvardeisk, 30 miles southwest of Russia's second city to sever the important trunk line running west to the Estonian city of Reval. Krasnogvardeisk is also the northern terminus of a railway running southwest to Luga and Pskov.

Fall Expected Soon

Front dispatches reported the town, already outflanked from the east and west, was expected to fall momentarily.

Vladimirskaya, nine miles east of Krasnogvardeisk on a branch line to Tosno, junction point of the Leningrad-Moscow main railway line, was captured in this drive, while other units of Red forces moved across the Leningrad-Moscow line between Tosno and Chudovo.

The Germans were reported fighting violently to hold their grip on these main rail arteries but their use of them already has been neutralized and the Nazis have been forced to fall back on two secondary lines.

These lines, however, were simultaneously threatened by the westward advance of the Russian army from Novgorod, which already is reported close to the junction points so vital to German plans.

Smash Through Fortifications

In gaining their objectives, the Leningrad army was forced to smash its way through some of the most highly developed fortification systems yet encountered southwest and southeast of Leningrad.

House Committee Files Caustic Criticism of War Labor Board

Agency Accused of Violating Constitution in Ruling on Union Maintenance of Membership Contracts.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The national war labor board was accused by a special house committee today of violating the Constitution in requiring maintenance-of-union membership clauses in contracts between workers and employers.

The committee, set up to investigate "acts of executive agencies beyond the scope of their authority," declared in a blistering report to the house the Constitution can not be suspended by the President or his agents "merely because a state of war exists."

If the labor board's "autocratic challenge to constitutional authority remains unanswered and unremedied," the report said, "it will imperil our present economic system and will mark the transition of our government from one law to one man."

Five of the seven committee members, including Chairman Smith (D-Va.) signed the report. A dissenting opinion was filed by representatives, who held the board "has not exceeded authority duly granted to it by Congress itself."

The majority listed these policies as "highly dangerous and menacing to the system of private enterprise and the constitutional right of judicial review of administrative decisions."

(1) The board has adopted the policy that "a financial status or ability to pay of the employer is irrelevant and immaterial and that only employer whose business does not justify the payment of what the board in its judgment or generosity regards as a decent standard of wages is economically inefficient and ought not to be permitted to remain in business."

(2) The board takes the position that it has the right not only to fix future wages but to render a money award for back wages for services already rendered and paid for without affording the employer an effective right of judicial review.

(3) The board has promulgated and enforced a new legal doctrine to the effect that it has the power and authority to compel the parties to execute a contract to do anything that the parties might voluntarily do, irrespective of whether there is any legal or contractual obligation on the parties to do so.

(4) To order an employer against his will to encourage membership in a union by requiring continuance of membership as a condition of employment, or requiring the check-off of union dues as a condition of employment, is to clearly in violation of the right of judicial review.

Prospect Bond Rally
Set Tomorrow Night

To Start at 8 P.M.: Servicemen's Bond Sale Show Scheduled at Palace Theater on Feb. 7.

Developments came rapidly from several quarters in Marion county's Fourth War Loan drive today.

Prospect completed plans for a communitywide bond rally tomorrow night at 8 in the school auditorium.

Arrangements were completed for a variety show to be staged by Patterson Field servicemen at the Palace theater Feb. 7 with a $50 war bond purchase required for a ticket.

The county's total sales were advanced to $673,041 or 23 per cent of the goal by yesterday's sales amounting to $50,644.

Area war bond headquarters in Cleveland reported Marion county ranked seventh among 25 counties in the area in E bond sales, eighth in total sales to date.

Prospect Rally Set
for Thursday Night

The Fourth War Loan spotlight started to swing toward Prospect today as final plans were outlined for a communitywide bond rally there tomorrow night in which Prospect hopes to approach or possibly exceed its quota in the nationwide campaign.

To help stage the event in the Prospect school auditorium at 8 o'clock, county War Finance committee officials and the Harding High school a cappella choir which helped conduct similar rallies in other Marion county communities in past bond drives, will form a caravan and drive to Prospect early Thursday evening.

The choir, directed by L. G. Jones, will sing a group of numbers and war loan drive officials will speak.

Prospect organizations are lined up solidly in support of the rally.

E. J. Schoenlaub, chairman of the War Finance committee, reported today.

Actively participating in plans for the event are the Parent-Teacher association, All Arts Club, Searchlight Literary club.

In gaining their objectives, the Leningrad army was forced to smash its way through some of the most highly developed fortification systems yet encountered southwest and southeast of Leningrad.

More than 1,500 Germans were reported killed in yesterday's fighting south of Leningrad. Body included an entire German military train packed with tanks and guns, the Soviet communiqué said.

GALION NAVY MAN HOME AFTER RESCUE

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Jan. 26 — Completely recovered from the exposure which he suffered when he remained in the icy water for nearly two hours following a collision of his patrol ship, the U. S. S. Augustine, and a merchant ship off Cape May Jan. 6, Sam Barger, 19, S 1/c, the only Ohioan to survive the sinking, is spending 30 days at his home here.

Seaman Barger was one of 30 survivors of a crew of 145. He escaped without injury.

Although he thought at times that he could cling no longer to the overloaded life raft, he held on with numb fingers until he was picked up by small rescue craft, he told members of his family in relating his experiences.

He lapsed into unconsciousness after the rescue and his only memory is of stimulants and not coffee which "made me seasick for the first time in my life."

Seaman Barger has been at sea for 18 months. He is the son of Mrs. Margaret Barger and has a brother, George, now completing his boot training at Great Lakes, whom he expects to visit before returning to the Brooklyn receiving station to report back for duty.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—Fifty-three generals are among the thousands of native Ohioans doing their share in the new World war.

Like the men in the ranks, the officers are stationed at many fronts, it is shown by a recent compilation of the war department. Among them is Lt. Gen. George Howard Brett, born in Cleveland, a career soldier since his graduation from Virginia Military Institute in 1909. He became chief of the air corps in May 1941.

Brig. Gen. William Richard Arnold of Wooster is chief of chaplains with headquarters in Washington. Maj. Gen. William S. Porter, Lima, is chief of the chemical warfare service.

The Army said the ranks of some officers might have been changed since the list was compiled, although most of them probably are on duration assignments.

Following are the names and birthplaces of other Ohio officers.

Marion's Clothing
Gift To Refugees
Enroute To Goal

Clothing—a large truck and trailer load—denied by residents of Marion, is on the first leg of its journey to refugees in the war zones.

George Abner, Marion County Salvage committee chairman, who headed the drive to collect the garments, announced today.

The clothing, 12,200 pounds of it was transported Monday night to the Supply Defense office in Columbus by the Schlaifer Transfer Co., distributors in this section for the Defense Supply Corp., whose main office is at Cleveland.

In all, 44,000 pounds of clothing material were donated to the drive, and 22,000 pounds was salvaged for wearable clothing and for cloths to be used by industrial plants in the care machinery. The 2,400 pounds which was scraps and could not be used in any way, were sold and the money turned over to the Boy Scouts who assisted in the sorting of the materials.

ing of the clothing which was

Co. building until taken to Columbus.

Mr. Roosevelt called for roll soldier vote issue in congress.

He said he realized he had nothing to do with making or en-thought there were times "when the President can speak as an in-lieved most Americans would agree with him that every sen-be willing in justice to stand up and be counted.

Not only should the privilege of the ballot be preserved for men and women in uniform, the President told congress, but it would be desirable also to include other groups of voters engaged abroad in various kinds of war work.

"But as to members of our ar-he said, "I deem the legisla-that justice is done for them.

They are not ordinarily permitted to write their congressman on

St. Mary Runs Up 35 - 22 Score To Beat St. Wendelin

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

General and generated by Captain Harry McGinnis, the Marion St. Mary basketball juggernaut under its seventh 1943-44 victim, Fostoria St. Wendelin, 35 to 22, on the Thomas A. Edison court last night.

Captain McGinnis, who played the entire game at a guard spot, registered 17 points on six baskets and five free throws to set the scoring pace for his floor-mate Irish mates. For the visiting Fostoria quintet, Center Lawler was the most productive scorer with 10 points, consisting of three baskets and four free throws.

Superior physical condition and a much more lively "flashing kick" were the most important of the Irish victory instruments. St. Mary was involved in a close scuffle for the first three quarters and the first minute of the last period but after that Joe Blaser's football season. However, he came back in the second half and Fostoria couldn't maintain the play continuously until he was rapid-fire tempo of their Marion played continuously until he was parochial adversary. St. Wendelin in the fourth quarter actually forced to the front after foul No. 4 was committed.

Lawler Scores First

Center Jim Lawler drove first scoring blood for St. Mary on a free throw and moments later those two points were the extent of Fostoria scoring in the last stanza but St. Mary rolled up 16 markers, their best mark of the night for one eight-minute period.

Gray Is Second

Finishing second to McGinnis in the Irish scoring column was Johnny Gray, senior forward whose "team-work" assets are just beginning to be appreciated. Gray had eight points, including two goals and four charity tosses. McGinnis' 17 point collection

This was St. Mary's seventh win of the campaign against five losses. It also was the Irish's initial 1943-44 court meeting with St. Wendelin. Last fall, in a hard-charging football encounter, Coach Lane McCrate's undefeated Irishers took a 13 to 0 decision from the Fostoria parochial elevens.

One casualty depleted the St. Mary ranks temporarily last night. Bob Wintersteller, promising sophomore guard, crashed into the wall after trying to block a Fostoria pass and wound up with a sprained ankle, which had been injured previously during Montgomery Climbs Comeback Ladder by Williams K. O.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26—Boxing every today was on the comeback trail toward his 160-pound title with five in his eye after blasting Jim Williams, the Trenton, N. J., terror, into oblivion in the last round of their scheduled 12-round at Convention Hall last night.

Pointing toward his promised return the east in Beat Jack, the Philadelphia boxer hammed Williams mercilessly for 11 rounds. The end came for the Trenton lightweight in 2 minutes and 40 seconds of the final stanza. A fight-thirsty crowd, officially announced at 14,607 paid $55,828 to see the Bobcat start his comeback by blasting Williams' 32nd bout winning streak with a drumming body blow that softened the Trenton boy up for the final smash.

As Williams came out for the last round he walked into a flock of straight rights that felled him twice for counts of eight. As the Trenton fighter lifted his beaten body from the canvas for the second time Montgomery whanged over another right which caught Williams flush on the jaw and dropped him face down over the lower rope.

His face buried in typewriters and cameras in the press row, the Trenton boxer was counted out. Williams opened the battle with a blistering pace that had the screaming crowd on its feet, but it was only a stout heart that kept him flinging leather in the last few rounds.

HARDING J-V'S PLAY RAM'S RESERVES

Junior Varsity cage teams of Marion Harding and Upper Sandusky High schools will clash at Thomas A. Edison gym tonight in game postponed from Jan. 12. The opening tip-off is tentatively set for 7:30.

Joe Peirlich's Harding Vice Presidents will be aiming at their sixth victory in seven 1943-44 starts and their second triumph of the season over the Upper Sandusky Jay-Vee outfit. The Vice Presidents won by a 35 to 26 margin in the previous meeting with the Upper Sandusky five on the latest floor.

Coach Peirlich announced his probable starting lineup as Don Shirk and Carl Harlow at forwards, Laury Feaver at center, and Dick Holliday and Bob England at guards. For Upper Sandusky the following quintet is most likely to start according to Coach Earl Shaffer: Denman and Houser at forwards, Limling at center, and Sinalley and Thiel at guards.

Between halves and after the Jay-Vee game tonight, Vic Dorris' Harding High tumbling squad will make its final local appearance before displaying its skill in the eight-county physical institute at Galion Saturday. Twenty-two boys are scheduled to participate in tonight's program, which will include a boxing match between Merle Jackson and Vic Baker during the intermission and 61 tumbling stunts and feats on physical training apparatus after the game.

State of Siege
Reported in Rome

By The Associated Press

BERN, Jan. 26—Dispatches from the Italian frontier today said German authorities had proclaimed a state of siege in Rome as the progress of allied troops fanning out from their Normandy bridgeheads touched off a new wave of anti-Nazi activity in the 11-squad Monday Nite Ladies.

These reports said allied sympathizers had attacked German barracks and supply depots and that bombs had been thrown at military bureaus and at soldiers in the streets.

Several German officers were reported killed by these attacks in broad daylight.

the mid-section of concrete runways and on the coral extensions. At the bombers turned away 50 Japanese planes attacked, only to be set upon by 70 fighters piloted by American and New Zealand fliers. These shot down at least 30 and probably 46 enemy planes which were added to the eight planes destroyed on the ground. Two bombers and three fighters were lost but one bomber crew and a fighter pilot were saved.

Two Attacks, Sunday
That attack was made Sunday morning. Sunday afternoon, 30 allied fighters returned, repeatedly circled Rabaul, finally engaged upwards of 60 enemy fighters to mix it over Duke of York Island. Fourteen, perhaps 15, of the defenders were bagged against no allied losses.

So for this month, the allied count of Japanese aircraft lost at Rabaul includes 212 certainly shot down; 66 probably shot down (a "probable" is a plane seen burning and spinning earthward but not definitely observed to crash); and more than 20 ground planes destroyed. Allied losses slightly exceed 50.

Allied Bombers Stab at Europe Again Today

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 26—Allied bombers and fighters hammered targets in northern France for the fourth straight day today after swift RAF Mosquitos had broken a one-night pull in the allied aerial offensive by stabbing at unspecified objectives in western Germany.

RAF raiders also struck at northern France during the night operations which were carried out without loss, said the air ministry.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

A STONISHMENT and terror. "That is what we understand, you Jack. I knew that he had through the maze surrounding me the same traits disregard of safety, that how could fully. "Poor child," he said remorsefully, "the Chief told me she was to have done, and the secret being held as a hostage so that those friends could find out my address by the experience. Well, maybe I can get even with one or two of the men who he was working, and which he behaved would be repaid anyway. When do we get infinite victory in the government—was exchanged by his coming out of the hiding place. He was without even the dog of the scowling beard, and the long unkempt hair with which he had masked his face when I found him at the home of Professor Dinsdale in the Litchfield Hills of Connecticut.

"Jack," I exclaimed. "You have left the hideaway! I thought you didn't—" "I know, Madge," he said gently. "You thought I wouldn't rise, coming out into the light of day, until my work was done. Not until I found my 'heavily lady' acting and Carolyn, May, Ronald and Noel also are going—all in various disguises. "But I want Dr. Twitwell and Katherine to set up a first aid dressing room here," I concluded, "while you take charge of the two guards left here. I truly hope there will be no necessity for surgery or nursing service, but there's always the chance of a stray bullet, you know."

"Stop right there, old girl," Jack commanded. "In the first place, it was your job to send for us. In the second place, I'm not running the risk that you imagine."

"What do you mean?" I asked breathlessly at his significant pause.

Jack Explains

"You know how we get out of the hideaway," he answered. "through the Chinese factory, I was in that car when it rolled out, completely hidden from view in the rear seat. We were amply guarded, and when we got out here, I had on dark glasses, a voluminous overcoat enveloped me, my hat was pulled down and my neck and the lower part of my face were swathed in a muffler. Also, I walked with a limp, and the guards helped me upstairs.

"I am sure nobody recognized me, he went on, "even if there were any interested person around, which I doubt."

My face must have betrayed the question I would not ask again, for he explained his meaning quickly.

"I saw the Chief just before he went to Washington, he said, "and while he hasn't quite finished with his mess, the end is in sight. From now on, the big shots of this organization will be calling on God and the heavens to cover them while the smaller fry will be diving into their respective ratholes."

"Of course, there's always the chance of a 'slip,'" he admitted. "so I'm not being hasty."

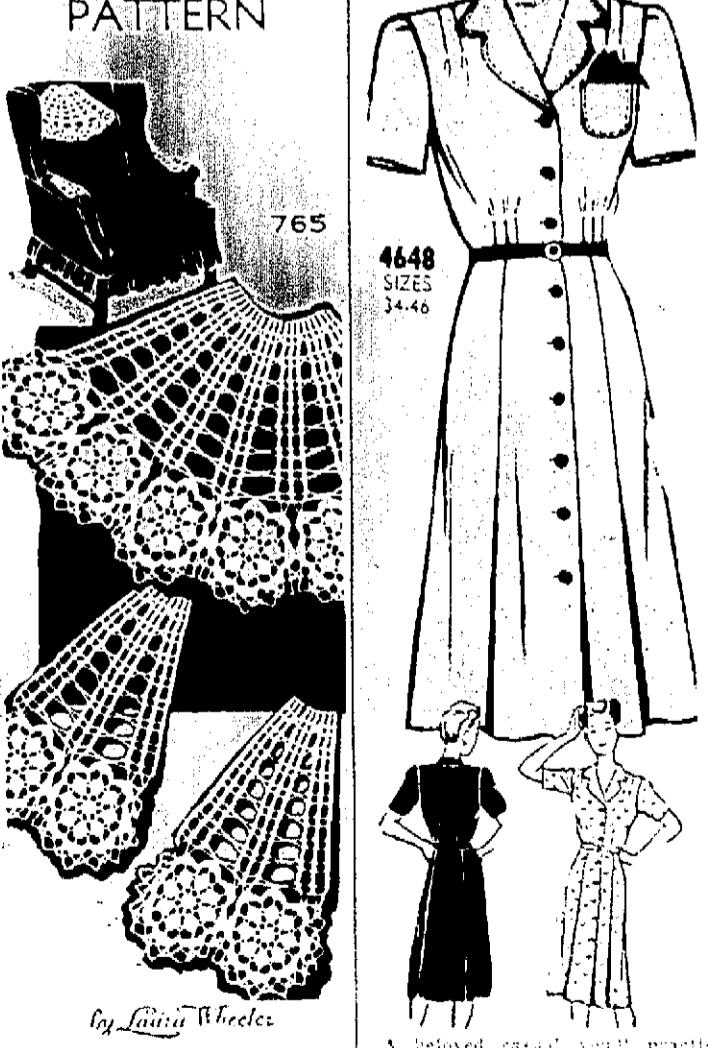

"But if things go according to your father's plans, it won't be long before I can step openly into the light of day with my wife on my arm."

He put his arm around Katherine and kissed her tenderly, heedless of Dr. Twitwell and Ronald. I knew he did not count me, any more than he did the wall paper or the furniture. I had been part of Katherine's life, and his, too long for him to consider my reactions to any display of his affection for Katherine. He knew that I was so overjoyed at their reunion that I welcomed and heartily approved his lover-like attitude.

"So," Jack finished, "Katherine, and I are at your service, for anything you wish done. Did I understand that Marion is over in that restaurant across the way?"
